

Graphic Designer - part time

- Dynamic not-for-profit organisation
- Fast-paced and varied role
- Work on marketing materials – print and online
- Passionate and experienced team

Redkite supports children and young people with cancer and their families by providing real and practical support through the cancer journey – from the very moment of diagnosis, throughout treatment and when families return home to their community. Redkite is one of Australia's leading national childhood cancer support charities, and has an experienced and passionate team.

We are seeking a highly motivated, creative and talented graphic designer to join our National Marketing Team. The successful applicant for this role will be responsible for the design and layout of national communication materials under the direction of the Marketing and Brand Manager, including but not limited to newsletters, brochures, web pages and banners, email news & updates, advertisements, annual review, and information sheets.

Redkite has a simple, memorable, and visually distinctive identity with a unique broader visual language. This role will also involve brand management, brand guideline evolution, image management, and the editing and production of Redkite illustrations.

The successful candidate will have:

- Excellent design skills and knowledge of Adobe design applications
- Knowledge of latest web technologies and industry trends, including html
- Ability to communicate effectively with a wide range of people
- Keen attention to detail, accuracy and sensitivity
- Ability to work to deadlines and multi-task in a busy environment
- Demonstrated experience working within a team
- Worked in an 'in-house' design role desirable

The position is for 2 days a week, initially for a period of 6 months, with the possibility of a permanent role.

For a full position description, please visit www.redkite.org.au under the Job Opportunities section.

Applications should include a CV and a cover letter addressing the criteria (including websites worked on). Applicants who do not include a cover letter will not be considered for this role.

Please email applications to mkeighery@redkite.org.au. Applications close at 5pm on Monday 9 August.
